

Dear diary,
or whoever is reading this.

If you didn't already know, I love food. I was such a chubby kid growing up, probably because my parents kept feeding me in my crib. Ug. Don't they know once is enough??

Ok well whatever. What're my go to snacks you ask? Good question me. Either after-dinner cereal (I swear that just hits differently) or some spicy chips.

I'm bored. Haha you know what would be super fun? If I just made two random ciphertxts and left them in here for someone to find the key that connects them together haha that'd be so funny...
